IN MEMORIAM

And when the stream
Which overflowed the soul was passed away
A consciousness remained that it had left,
Deposited upon the silent shore
Of memory, images and precious thoughts,
That shall not die, and cannot be destroyed.

B-17

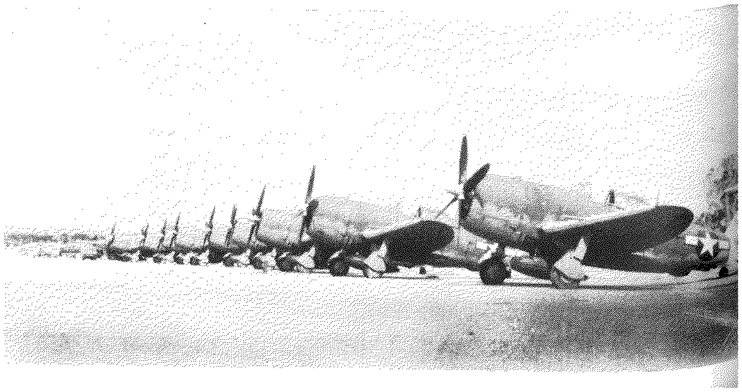
You hear the roar of propeller blades cutting their way through the icy thinness of the stratosphere. Up high in the heavens the winds howl like a thousand demons attempting in their fury to tear her asunder, but deep within this mighty bird beats a tireless heart of steel. The rhythmic throb of four powerful engines of 5,000 horsepower fears no devils of the sky. With her guns to protect her, and her brain manipulated by two trustworthy pilots, her course plotted by a master navigator, and a load of death that wreaks havoc with her enemies, what has she to fear? She is Queen of the skies. She is the Flying Fortress—the B-17.

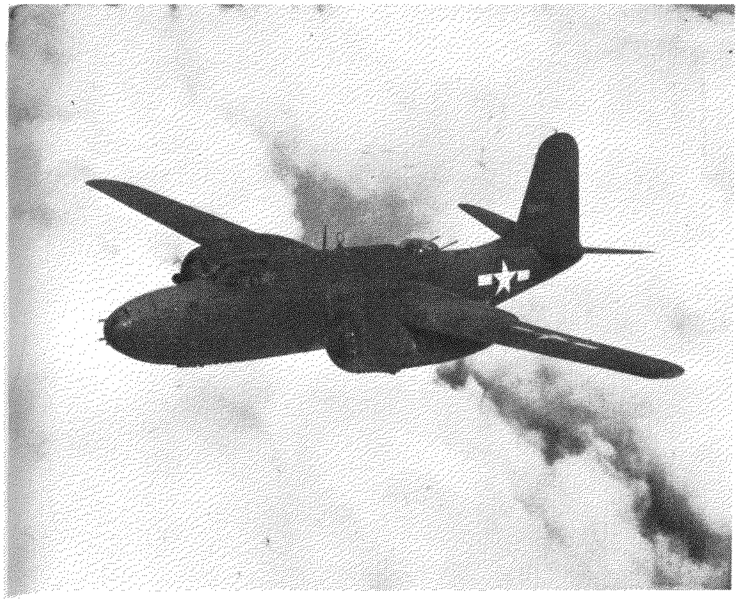
* * * * *

P-38

A bolt of fire goes flashing past, zooming through the skies, quickly climbing higher and higher and vanishing into the blue beyond. A two-engined message of death with her 20 mm. cannon and four machine guns bristling from her nose, she is the scourge of the skies, hated by her enemies for powers in dealing out death in the battle of the air. She lives up to her name, "The Lightning," for she is a streak of lightning hurtling across the blue at better than 400 m.p.h. in a never ending search for her target. Not only a bolt of lightning but a missile of destruction is she, for the sight of her spells doom to those who cross her path. She is the Lightning—the P-38.

* * * * *

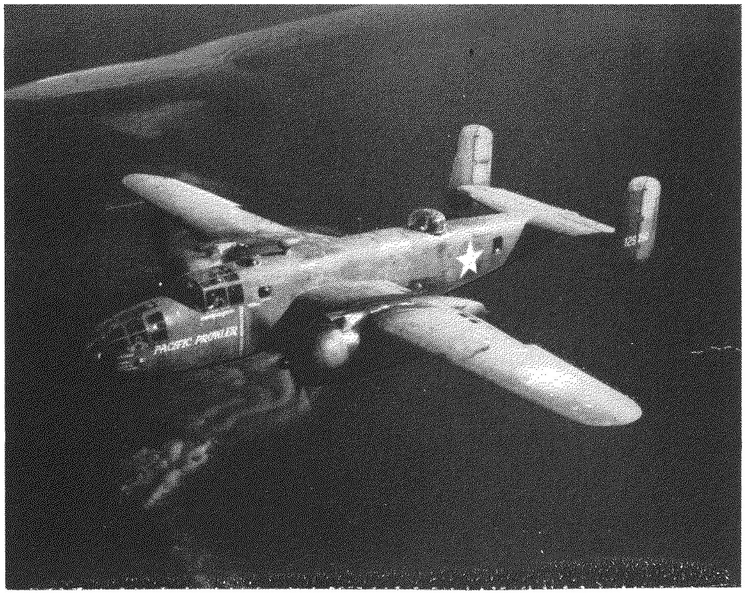




A-20

A double purpose ship, using both attributes with deadly accuracy and ability, is the A-20. This night-fighter-bomber has twin engines of 1,800 horsepower, each giving her plenty of speed and durability as she streaks down from out of the skies at upward of 350 m.p.h., spraying lead from her eight machine guns, dropping her 4,000 pound bomb load. With her crew of three she is used primarily to disrupt the enemy supply lines, attack troop concentrations, ships, and fixed installations. Performing her duties with thoroughness, she leaves a job well done. She is the Boston. She is the A-20.

* * * * *



B-25.

The plane that has made a name for itself, especially in the Southwest Pacific, is the well-known B-25. Little need be told of her deeds. Powerfully fortified with fourteen machine guns, a 75 millimeter cannon and a two-ton bomb capacity, she has blasted Japanese shipping from the seas in the now famous Battles of the Pacific. Sweeping low over enemy airfields at higher than 320 m.p.h., strafing and bombing, she will always be remembered by the foe. With two powerful 1,800 horsepower engines, and her gallant crew of five, she sweeps the skies daring the enemy to come and do battle with her. She is the Mitchell. She is the B-25.

AIR CORPS SUPPLY

No engine's roar, no whine of lead,
No shrapnel bursting overhead,
No cloud filled skies to travel through,
No world below us, 'neath the blue.
No, none of these to catch our eye,
Ours is the job—Air Corps Supply.

No order comes too large or small,
We try our best to fill them all;
From tail assemblies, wheels and brakes,
To landing lights and armor plates;
From aircraft engines to a screw,
For bombers, fighters, transports, too.

There's parts to pack and goods to check,
Yeah, "pencil pushin'," too, by heck!
There's railway problems we must fight,
And boats to load till late at night.
We toil through heat and blinding rain
To load our air freight on some plane.

There's no use sitting 'round and crying,
It's up to us to "Keep 'Em Flying."
To you up front: we hope some day
You'll understand what part we play,
And in the end we think you'll see
We, too, have helped towards victory.

—Sgt. H. E. Bailey.

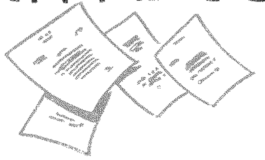
STOCK RECORDS



Paralleling and supplementing the warehouse's bin cards are the stock record cards kept at the Supply Section, Group Headquarters. These cards provide an instant check on stocks in all warehouses of the Depot. The 800,000 items can be located by class (there are thirty main classes) and by stock number. A requisition goes to the Supply Officer at Group Headquarters, is checked against stock record cards, and if the material is available it is coded. A shipping ticket is made out from the coded requisition for those items immediately available, and sent to the warehouse as authority to take the items from the bins. The items are then sent to the packing department.

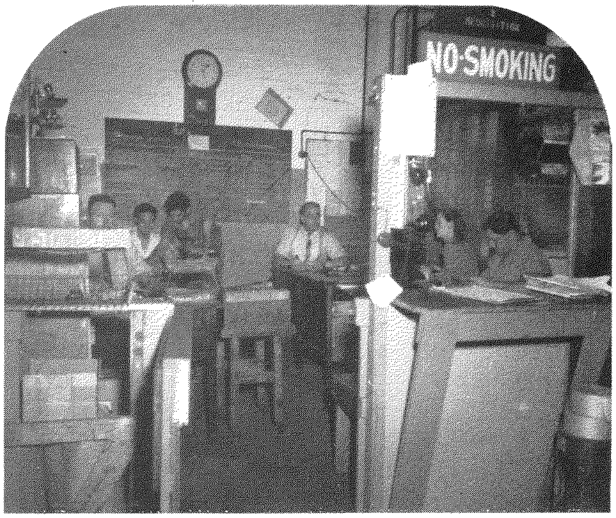
WAREHOUSING



Office of Whses. No. 1 and No. 7.

Under warehousing comes binning, which is the placing of all items in their respective bins and posting the number received on the bin cards. A bin card is made out for every article stored and filed in the office of the warehouse. It shows how much of a given item is in storage and how many units have been received and issued to date. A specified quantity of each item is supposed to be kept in the bin, and when stock gets low it is from these bin cards that requisitions are made for replenishment.

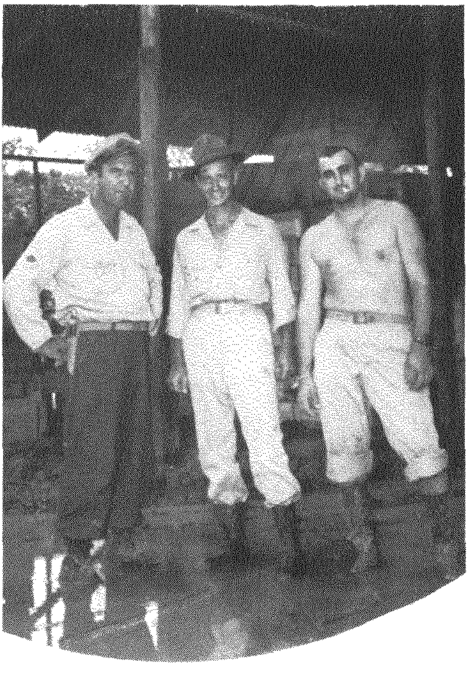
SHIPPING

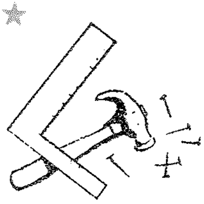
Depot No. 1 can boast of one of the largest and best Packing and Shipping Departments of any Air Force Supply organization overseas. T/Sgt. Reubinall, as N.C.O. in charge, has as his assistants: T/Sgt. Davis, supervisor of all packing and in charge of boat shipments; Sgt. Martin in charge of all air priorities; Sgt. Allen in charge of rail shipments; and Cpl. Witos in charge of local shipping by truck. Each section has its own packing, storage, and shipping area. In all 110 civilians are employed.

Pvt. Sensiba with tubes of oxygen, acetylene and carbon dioxide lined up for shipment.

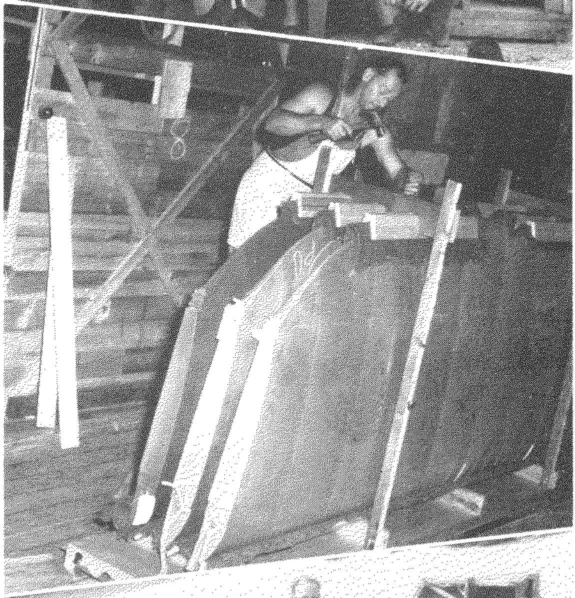


At the Intransit Whse, Advanced Base: T/Sgt. Bowman, Cpl. Stull, Pvt. Saad.

Sgt. Novak removing oxygen mask from bin



IN the Shipping Department, the items are checked against the shipping ticket and carefully packed to protect them against breakage and bad weather. The boxes are shipped immediately, if possible, or are stored pending shipment. A master copy of the shipping ticket, showing number of pieces, weight, and cubage, is sent to the Shipping Office, where space is requested either by air, rail, boat, or truck, according to the destination and priority. As soon as shipment is made information copies of the shipping ticket are forwarded to consignee showing complete shipping information.



* * * * *

Shipping is probably the most interesting section of Air Force Supply, as the Depot is in continuous contact with all types of equipment, supplies, and transportation. It probably is largely responsible for the fame of the Group, inasmuch as all supplies handled by the Depot and issued or shipped to any organization must be processed through the shipping department. Theirs is a responsibility of getting the 9,000,000 pounds of supplies monthly to forward areas by the fastest possible means and in the best condition.

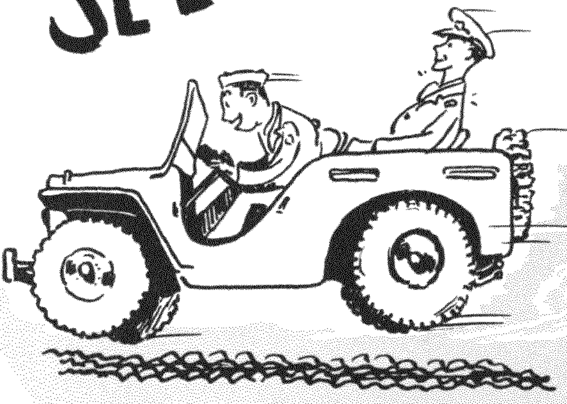
A PEEP at A JEEP!



Just eight feet long
And five feet wide,
But it's really got
A heart inside.
It takes you where
You want to go,
Never ever
Does it say no.
Over hill and
Over dale,
Through the jungle's
Murky trail,
Through the swamps,
Through the streams,
Across the tropic
Where the tropic
Jungle steams,
Across the bleached
And desert sands,
Through ancient bad
And timeworn lands,
Over mountains
And treacherous paths,
Never does
Old faithful lag.
Faithful ever,
Deceitful never,
It lives up
To its creed;
Rolling wheels,
With heart of steel,
Its purpose
Is your need:
So when you hear
That squeaky peep
Remember, it's
"Old Faithful Jeep."

SECURITY

Performing one of the most essential, wearying, and at the same time thankless jobs on the field are the former farmers, policemen, firemen, salesmen of the 1124th Military Police Company.

To guard the base effectively every hour of the twenty-four, the M.P.'s are divided into several shifts each of which walks guard for six consecutive hours. The average M.P. works 48 hours a week spread over six days. The 1124th also maintains a Criminal Investigation Section, which gathers information on all violations of the law involving 81st personnel.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT was organized in the middle of 1943 upon the recommendation and under the supervision of the Group Adjutant, Lt. Mayer. Sgt. Indovina, who had been a fireman in civilian life, was appointed Fire Chief and was given eight men from various units on the field to form the Fire Department. On November 23, 1943, Major Slingerland was appointed Fire Marshal.

Sgt. Indovina found it necessary to improvise and build his own equipment. To date he has one 1,000 gallon pumper and trailer pump capable of 250 gallons per minute, one 650 gallon truck with a trailer pump, and five Jupiter pumps capable of pumping 500 gallons per minute, supplemented by a crash truck with a 500 gallon per minute pump and emergency equipment.

To Sgt. Indovina fire battling is old stuff, but to his men who, in civilian life, were never able to get closer to a fire than the police lines would allow, the high degree of inflammability of 100 octane gasoline presents a constant peril and challenge. However, there are many instances to prove that when put to the test they all passed with flying colors.

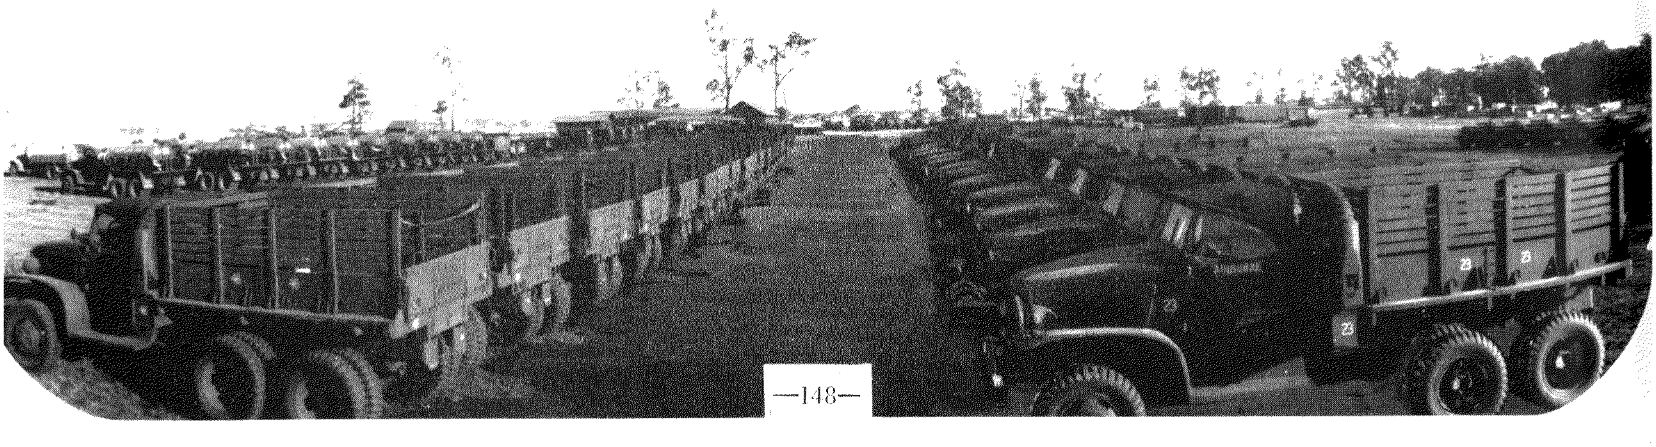
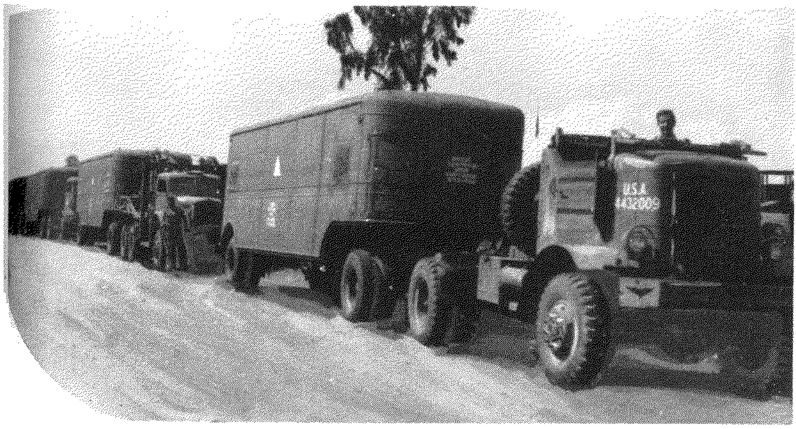
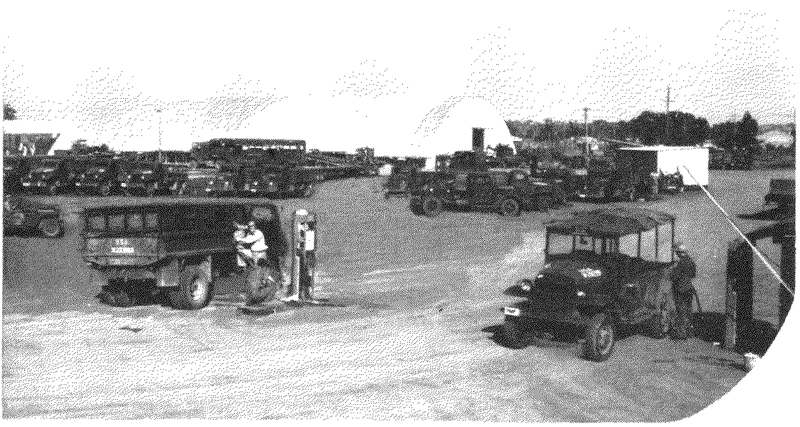
TRANSPORTATION

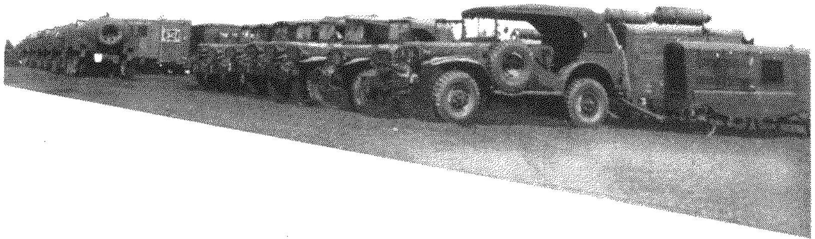
The truck, the modern "Trojan Horse," has played perhaps the greatest part in building the United States into the mightiest power on earth. In war, when movement is the foundation of all strategy, the mechanized wheel has become the symbol of speed and victory. Wheels, rubber, gasoline, engines—when combined spell incalculable riches and power for us, terror and defeat for the enemy.

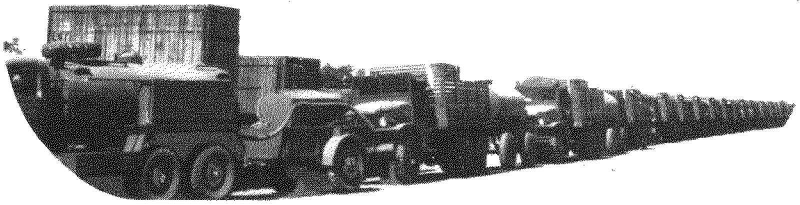






Eighty-first
AIR CORPS VEHICLE POOL





What role has the 81st played in fostering this game of trucking on to Tokyo?

We operated four huge motor pools where thousands of vehicles were stored, repaired, transshipped monthly. The consolidated pool was a model of self sufficiency, where sparkplug to 12-ton crane presented no problem to our master mechanics. Three hundred of them, distributed throughout the shops, garages, fuel servicing stations, kept the wheels turning along the roads finally to brake at some Jap entrenchment. To our boys in the forward areas went 60,000,000 lbs. of supplies monthly hauled on these selfsame vehicles to ships, planes, railroads.

The immensity of labor involved cannot be adequately credited in writing. Where words fail the camera's eye records. Let us take a trip through the pools with our drivers, who make them roll along "Nip Highway," and see for ourselves.

THE second anniversary of the 81st concluded a great transition in the transportation system. One after the other, transportation officers—Lt. Thomas, Lt. Grimes, Lt. Keller—worked for greater efficiency and consolidation of the four scattered pools. The Heavy Duty Pool, Valley Pool, Ascot Garage, and Ordnance Special Vehicle Pool were last in the Group's campaign to have all facilities within easy reach. Miles of distance between them were reduced at the beginning of May, 1944, when all motor pools were moved to one central location at Eagle Farm.

The Ascot Garage was turned back to its civilian owner and repair functions were transferred to the immense maintenance hangars. Here personnel of the 1799th Ordnance Company worked in unison with the Air Corps mechanics on 3rd and 4th echelon repairs. Trans-shipment of some 1,000 vehicles monthly, in addition to maintenance of 400 of the Group's trucks and staff cars, kept the men constantly at the wheel.

With the completion of unification the executive personnel—Lt. Keller, T/Sgts. Downey and Hall, Sgt. Ivy—saw a dream realized. Theirs was a pool that was the showplace of Base Section 3 and the pride of the 81st.

Besides treatment at the daily sick-call, the dispensary gave physical examinations for drivers' licenses, flying cadet and O.C.S. candidates, and food handlers, provided inoculations against tetanus, smallpox, typhoid fever, cholera, and other diseases, and conducted the regular monthly inspection of enlisted personnel. Civilians employed at Warehouse No. 12

EMPLOYMENT figures have fluctuated from just a handful of civilians when the Group began to function in May, 1942, to a peak of 1,705 in September, 1943, when they were in a majority as compared with military personnel.

Men outnumbered women five to one. With the exception of a small number of assistant storekeepers in warehouses and sewing machine operators in the parachute section, women employees were confined to office work in Group Headquarters and the warehouses. Men's work consisted of handling, storing or shipping of supplies, driving and repairing of vehicles, and constructional jobs. Limited numbers were employed as clerks, technicians, and in semi-administrative positions.

Women's National Emergency Legion (W.N.E.L.'s), an organization of civilian volunteers, had twelve drivers assigned to the Group for the staff cars, which transported executive military personnel on official business tours. Out of an average weekly pay of five pounds, the W.N.E.L.'s purchased their own uniforms and were subject to tax deductions as well as other civilians.

Employees were generally more than satisfied with working conditions, particularly since the U.S. Army paid much higher rates than any firm in Australia. The "baby" of the outfit naturally thought that "Uncle Sam" was a wonderful boss. He paid her £4 a week since he thought she was worth it, and saw no reason for following the Australian practice of giving her 15 shillings a week because she was only fifteen years of age.

The average wage for six eight-hour days was £360 per annum, with a minimum £120 paid to messengers and a maximum £888 earned by the supervisors. The Australian government deducted tax averaging 15 shillings per week, extremes ranging from 14 shillings to £5 weekly.

By and large, the relationship between civilian and military personnel has been most cordial, and many lasting friendships were formed during the two years of association. It was with earnest regret that alliances, both business and social, had to be broken upon departure of the Group. Nevertheless, the work of our faithful civilians will not be forgotten by the 81st.

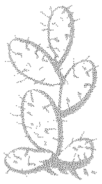
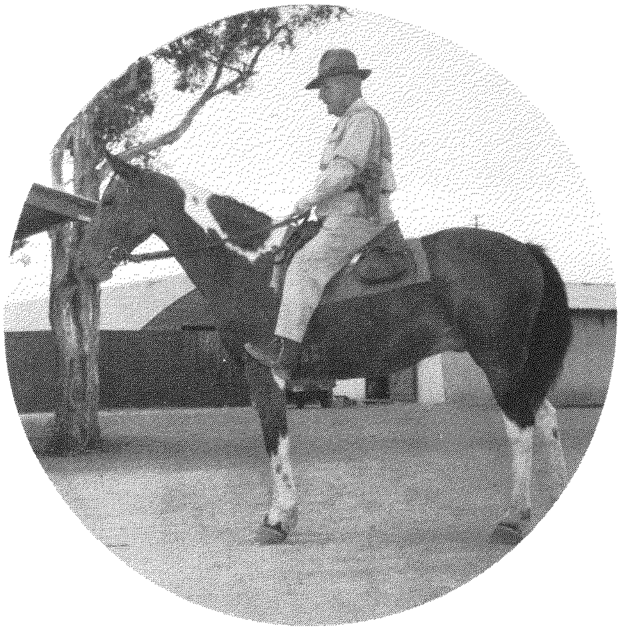
THE LONE RANGER





The history of the 81st at Eagle Farm would not be complete without mention of the "Lone Ranger," Charles J. Kenyon, a kind typical bushman, with a winning smile which readily endeared him to everyone on the field.

When the 81st began the pioneering job of carving an airfield out of undeveloped land, Kenyon was the Divisional Chief Air Raid Warden for the Eagle Farm area.

At that time the Group was experiencing considerable difficulty in keeping the straying stock off the air strip. Kenyon voluntarily helped with the task, and consequently a request was put in that the roving cowboy be appointed Ranger. He was duly sworn in February, 1942.

Kenyon found it quite exciting in the early days keeping the cattle off the field. He organized general roundups among the test pilots who followed on bicycles and in jeeps, the Ranger leading the posse on his gallant horse. Later stockades were built and the Ranger impounded any stray cattle at the direction of Col. Minty and Col. Monay, who realized the seriousness of wandering stock on an important airfield.

The old cowboy is a well-known figure in the cattle country of Queensland. He was previously a drover and stock dealer of many years' standing. As working manager for the biggest cattle drive undertaken in Australia, he led 13,000 head from the Northern Territory to New South Wales. The trip took twelve months, and was one of the many successful drives which followed in later years.

Today, at the age of 60, Charles Kenyon is as much of a fixture at Eagle Farm as the Air Corps, and in the future, when we pause to reminisce about the war, one of our most vivid memories will be the "Lone Ranger" on his beloved horse, "Teddy Roosevelt."

THE 81ST A.D.G. BABY

Robin Quantrill

Robin Quantrill, at age 14½ when hired by the Group as typist, was the youngest member of the 81st. Now at 15, besides being still titleholder as infant of the organization, she boasts a promotion to assistant stenographer. Eight months of schooling for her present job did not stop with the beginning of employment in September, 1943. She consistently pursues her studies, and has attained shorthand speed of 120 words per minute and typing of 50 words. Elocution is her favorite extra curricular activity, and in a recent competition for girls 14 to 16 at the Queensland Patriotic Eisteddfod, Robin won first prize. Her favorite sports are swimming and tennis.

Farewell Party for Col. Minty

★ ★ ★ 7 FEBRUARY, 1944 ★ ★ ★

When Colonel R. J. Minty, Command Pilot, came to the 81st Air Depot Group as Commanding Officer on August 10, 1943, with several thousand flying hours to his credit, he told the local reporter that his favorite fighter plane was the P-38. Then he smiled broadly and added, "But I find it hard to squeeze into one." West Pointers of the class of '23, on hearing this comment, probably began to reminisce about their school days, for while a student at the Military Academy, Col. Minty won letters for his outstanding work in football, basketball, track, and wrestling. Though not as slim as in former days, he's still no pushover.

He was born in Lansing, Michigan, and attended grade school there until his folks moved to Iowa, where he completed high school, excelling in the same sports for which he was later awarded letters at West Point. His favorite subject was mathematics, which sharpened the analytical mind required in a military leader, who must grasp all the implications of any situation in the shortest possible time and make faultless decisions immediately. After graduation from West Point he was stationed for a course at Brooks Field, Texas. He learned how to fly and, as he says, "had my share of thrills and, like most pilots, cracked up a few ships." Col. Minty was for several years at Wright Field, Ohio, in the Equipment and Power Plant Branches, where he worked on the original blind landing apparatus. Before shipping overseas he was for two years in charge of the Engineering Section at Ogden Field, Utah.

As Commanding Officer of the 81st Air Depot Group he established a reputation among the men as a strict disciplinarian of the old army school who would not tolerate malingering of any sort. At the same time those who were familiar with his work regarded him with the utmost of respect as a man who did not hesitate to fight for the welfare of his troops.

After establishing the 81st as the most efficient organization of its kind in this theatre, he was appointed Commanding Officer of IV Air Service Area Command, February 6, 1944, and left to assume command after a "bang-up" farewell party tendered him by his fellow officers at the home of Col. Monay.

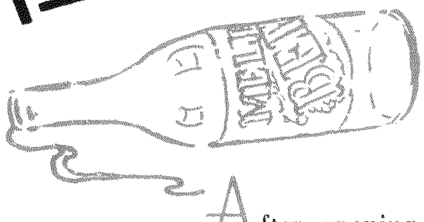
1ST THREE GRADERS' CLUB



After opening of the 4th and 5th Graders' Club at Eagle Farm, the Valley Club, which had hitherto admitted all non-coms, closed its membership to all but wearers of the many stripes. Their Friday night dances became exclusive but classic, especially since the major portion of the weekly ration of 120 gallons of beer was consumed. Moreover, members imbibed their allotment of hard drinks as chasers. Squadron parties on Thursday nights, too, were hilarious affairs. The Privates nurtured charitable hangovers Tuesday mornings after their evening of fun when nobody but the clean sleeved were allowed in—gratis; and they didn't go thirsty either. In general, the Club made famous that classic "Never Again."

Secretary-Treasurer.

Combined with genuine night club atmosphere of dimmed lights and modern decorations, the N.C.O. Club, started as a dream that materialized after Chaplain Urquhart worked eight months to build it, became the pride of the Farm. Started as a 4th and 5th Graders' Club, it was also made available shortly after opening in March, 1944, to the lonely Privates, who were admitted two evenings a week without dues. Dances were nightly occasions, as were refreshments—beer, soft drinks, and sandwiches. Together with the friendly air surrounding the huge hall what more could any enlisted man ask?

The OVERSEAS PRIVATE

WITH the increase in ratings in 1942, the Private became almost extinct in the Army since four out of five enlisted men were either non-commissioned officers or technicians. Nevertheless, the plebeian among the G.I.'s was not entirely forgotten. Financially, he was made happier with the boost in base pay from $30 to $50 monthly, which, added to the 20% for oversea duty, more than fulfilled his needs. Dependency allotments relieved his worry about family at home.

Socially, as well, his prestige soared in the 81st. Menial work such as K.P. was eliminated when the Group hired civilians to work in the kitchens. Guard was performed by the M.P.'s, and the stripeless were free after duty hours to attend to their functions other than sentrying. Both the 4th and 5th and the First Three Graders' Clubs admitted Privates two nights during the week gratis. They danced them and made them forget their G.I. troubles through liquid refreshment.

To save many words, the staff hired Pvt. "Rookie" (Rucki), an average Private of the Group, to guide the reader through a day at Eagle Farm and immediate vicinity.

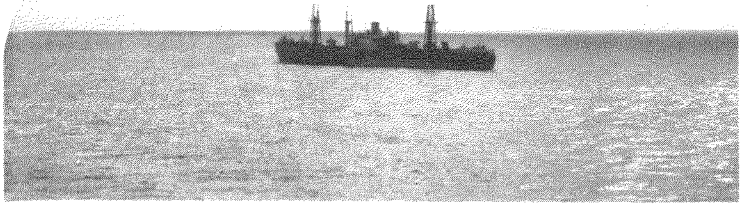
GOIN' HOME



The ROTATION PLAN

Effective March, 1944, the Rotation Plan was instituted, returning men to the United States from this theatre. Under the new policy men with (1) eighteen months' service overseas, (2) whose mental and physical condition indicated greatest urgency for return, and (3) who within the above categories desired it, were to be sent back home.

Fifth Air Force Special Order No. 54, dated 23 February, 1944, announced the good news to eighteen men from assigned and attached units of the 81st A.D.G. that they were the first to realize the fruits of the return plan. Awaiting transportation, they were transferred to Camp Ascot to embark in the middle of April for the Golden Gate "before '48."

The second rotation contingent—the April allotment—consisting of one officer and thirty-nine enlisted men, transferred to the Rotation Detachment to await return as soon as a boat is made available. At the time of writing (May 11th) they are still waiting and yearning.

To them a bon voyage from the whole Group.

Wishful Wishing . . .

Wishing will make it so,
You've heard the poets state.
I can't complain because all mine
Came true right up to date.

When I was a child of nine,
I often used to play
A game of war, and wished that I
Could be a soldier boy some day.

The draft board must have heard my wish,
I'll never know just how,
Because the man said, "Raise your hand,
You're in the Army now."

I'm in the Army now, that's true,
As pretty as you please;
And so I made another wish:
To get shipped overseas.

Wishing will make it so,
The poets always say.
I'm somewhere in Australia
Ten thousand miles away.

I'm going to make just one more wish,
And pray it's not in vain:
Please send me home today, and I
Will never wish again.

Pfc. C. J. Samanski.

Photo Section

It is no more than a click of the shutter, yet professional army photography is a trying job. There are nerve racking hours spent improvising since equipment is not always as readily available as your problem; there is boredom of laboratory work, and the danger in aerial flights.

To the five men of our photo unit go the laurels for patience coupled with hard labor. To them we owe thanks for all photographic material in this book and all visual historical records of our Group—work long remembered after all of our attainments will be forgotten.

To S/Sgt. Krause and his men, the Yearbook staff is grateful.

SUNSET

A breeze is wafting fragrant blossoms
Down the dusty way,
Their beauty soiled, which was but lately
Innocent and gay,
Beneath the morning dew.
A golden hush comes stealing swiftly
Like the touch of hands,
And heralds dusk anew.

The golden sun is slowly sinking;
Even as it dies
Its beauteous moment comes, and
Glory-drenched before our eyes grey,
Gloomy clouds are
Swift transformed to silver smitten things
That light the sky
With beauty like a flash of angels' wings:
It ever brighter grows.

A honey-tinted mass of gold has changed
The roseate hue to one of flame,
And all the West is shot with glory through,
That radiates o'er the sky.
A rosy flush o'erspreads the gold,
Departed is the sun,
And starry realm of twilight reigns supreme:
Now day is done and velvet night is nigh.

HEADQUARTERS
FIFTH AIR FORCE SERVICE COMMAND
OFFICE OF THE COMMANDING GENERAL
APO 925

5 May, 1944.

AG 201.22

SUBJECT: Commendation.

TO : Commanding Officer, 81st Air Depot Group, APO 923.

1. The departure of your organization from this area being imminent, it seems most fitting and proper that the splendid services rendered by the 81st Air Depot Group while stationed at APO 923 should receive justifiable recognition.

2. Although I have only recently assumed command of the Fifth Air Force Service Command, I did as Commanding General of the 54th Troop Carrier Wing, have the opportunity to observe some of the results of the work of your organization. The record and work accomplished by the 81st Air Depot Group has been outstanding. The 81st Air Depot Group moved into the APO 923 area approximately two years ago with only a minimum of trained personnel. However, by superior leadership and skillful organization and training, this organization grew and expanded, and now is probably the largest of its kind in any foreign theater of operation. Your ability to meet deadline dates on erection and modification of aircraft that were needed by tactical units, has certainly contributed magnificently to the success of these tactical organizations in this theater.

3. I would again like to repeat that the splendid work accomplished by your Group has been most gratifying, and I have full confidence that when you move to the forward area, you will be able to accomplish the even greater tasks that lie ahead.

4. It is my desire that the contents of this letter be brought to the personal attention of the members of your command.

Paul H. Prentiss
PAUL H. PRENTISS,
Brigadier General, U.S.A.,
